Student Guidelines for Using AI in Writing Scholarship Essays

We recognize that some applicants will use AI tools. For those who do, we encourage AI to be used wisely and ethically to ensure your work remains authentic and personal. It’s also important to know that there are risks and drawbacks, including the lack of personal touch and plagiarism. Here are some guidelines for using AI:

- Use AI to Support, Not Substitute: AI should be used to assist you in the writing process, not to write the essay for you. Use AI for brainstorming, grammar checks, structural suggestions, and feedback, but ensure the core ideas and content are your own.
- Avoiding Plagiarism: Always start with your own ideas and experiences. Use AI to refine and polish your writing but avoid copying text generated by AI word for word.
- Share Your Story: AI can tell general or generic stories, but it cannot tell your story. Scholarship committees are human and want to hear about your unique experiences, challenges, and aspirations. Illustrate your points with specific examples from your life using your own voice. This makes your essay more engaging and relatable.
- Review AI Suggestions: Carefully review any changes or suggestions made by AI to ensure they align with your voice and message. Adjust as needed to maintain your personal touch, and don’t let it overshadow your ideas.
- Proofread: After using AI tools, thoroughly proofread your essay to ensure it reads naturally and authentically.
- Seek Human Feedback: In addition to AI, seek feedback from teachers, mentors, or peers. Human perspectives can provide valuable insights that AI might miss.

If you follow these guidelines, you can effectively use AI to enhance your scholarship essay, ensuring it reflects your personal experiences and aspirations. Below are additional resources you can reference in using AI ethically and effectively.
